

UC San Diego

ARTS AND HUMANITIES Institute for Practical Ethics

Call for Applications
Postdoctoral Scholar Position for Academic Year 2022-2023
Ethics of Science, Technology and Medicine

The Institute for Practical Ethics, an interdisciplinary research unit at the University of California, San Diego, is dedicated to the pursuit of socially responsible science. Forming connections among ethicists, social scientists, natural scientists, health professionals and the community, it seeks to address ethical and social issues facing society, from ethical issues in clinical trials, environmental conservation, stem cell research, engineering and big data, and much more. Further information about the Institute can be found at ipe.ucsd.edu.

Postdoctoral Scholar Position Terms and Applications

We invite applications for the position of postdoctoral scholar for the academic year 2022-2023. Applicants must possess a PhD granted from an accredited university before the position begins.

The postdoctoral scholar position is a one-year appointment. Salary, as based on UC's salary scales and candidate qualifications, will be provided in exchange for active participation in the Institute's program of activities. The primary task of the postdoctoral scholar is to work on their own research. Any more limited additional duties will be decided through consultation between the postdoctoral scholar and Institute Co-Directors. The postdoctoral scholar is required to be in residence for the entirety of the academic year. The postdoctoral scholar position is open to international applicants. The Institute is especially interested in candidates who can contribute to the diversity and excellence of the academic community through research and service.

Primary consideration will be given to applications submitted by Friday, December 10, 2021, but all applications will be considered until the position is filled. Applications should be addressed to the Co-Directors, John H. Evans and Craig A. Callender (ipe@ucsd.edu) and should include:

- Cover letter
- Curriculum vitae
- Brief statement (1000 words maximum) summarizing the applicant's intellectual interests, scholarly training, and research agenda as these relate to the mission of the IPE
- Copies of no more than two representative publications or dissertation chapters
- Two letters of recommendation

The University of California is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action Employer and all qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, national origin, disability status, protected veteran status, or any other characteristic protected by law.

Inquiries regarding the Institute, its program, and the position may be addressed to ipe@ucsd.edu.

